After completing our village at New Holland, Ca., we experimented with some half dozen various brands of paint by dividing our village up into sections of ten houses each and painting each ten with a different brand.

On one section of ten houses we used Lead and Cil, the other five sections we used paints mostly used in this section, and considered to be the leading

After eight years we find that the ten oct-tages covered with "MASTIO PAIRT" are in better condi-tion and stood the test better than any of the others, even including Lead and Gil. Will say further that the houses were all of the same architecture, weatherboarded with leng leaf yellow pine of the same grade, having same exposure to the sun; that is, none of them were partially protected by shade trees, but fully exposed.

We are well pleased with the results of the "MASTIO PAIRT" and can heartly recommend same, to any one who is a buyer.
